A HOME FOR HATS

Every self-respecting closet nowadays has its quota of garment cases, shoe pockets and personal laundry bags. But hats have so far been sadly neglected. Boxes take up too much room; hat stands topple over and, while protecting the brims, do not keep dirt off the linings. Here is a hat rack designed to accommodate the 1929 hat, the little felt and satin cloches so generally accepted by all women.

The hat case shown here takes up no room in the closet; is convenient to use and costs only a very little to make. Furthermore it is collapsible, making it easy to pack for extended traveling.

For the lining use a piece of four plain wire mesh twelve inches in diameter, one and a half empty flour bags and ten yards of bias tape.

The rings are such as are used on lamp shades and cost but a few cents each or may be made at home by a handy man with a soldering iron. The flour bags may be bought at any bakery for a few cents more, or you can use those that come with flour for home use. The stamping is first removed either by soaking the inked places in lard kerosene for a few hours and then washing in warm water, or by rubbing with a cloth. The goods thus used in its natural color or may easily dyed.

First cut out the four circular pieces to the size and cover the inside of the rings. Then cut a strip the material 28x28 which will go around the bases, leaving an opening of eight inches. Bind the side of this strip with the tape and then the tape all the way round, on the outside of the cover. The opening is then covered with a loose felt piece of the same size as the ring and also all the way round. The fastener is sewed at each corner of the bottom. Sew a strap button with the tape to the top and secured with a hook in the top of the ceiling of the closet.

While this case as described will hold three hats, one or two additional may be added by increasing the size of the rings accordingly. Also, 14-inch rings may be used to one runs to larger hats.

TALKING to a roomful of big school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep their systems clean. All the time, normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there is no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically. It can't be absorbed, and it has the function of softening any of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should be taken. Take a spoonful every night before going to bed, and you will find a less method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other laxative. It is not a drug and does not stain. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is pure and harmless.  orks as easily.  every woman should have a hand and a tin of Nujol that has the remarkable success. Get the genuine

ENSEMBLE OF WELL DRESSED WOMEN DEPENDS LARGELY ON WISE CHOICE OF ACCESSORIES

The small accessories are one of the most important points in the ensemble of a well-dressed woman. It is not enough that the accessories should be in proper color harmony with the costume, but they must also be of the proper type. The difference between the smartly dressed woman and the one who is not is in the choice of accessories.

For plain outfits it will be as a dash of color and for the more elaborate ones as a match.

Such things as gloves, handbags, scarfs, jewelry and handkerchiefs are of the greatest necessity to a correct costume. Added interest may be given to any ensemble by a dainty touch of color or style to the plainest of costumes.

Spring's smartest version of gloves for the well-dressed woman is the new capeskin washable glove. It is particularly attractive in the new sun-tan shades to match spring hosiery. The capeskin glove is soft and pliable in quality. It may be found with the tri-tone hand, the metal motif, and with leather facing.

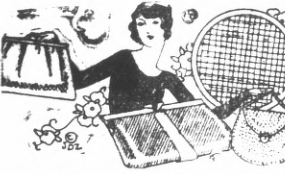

The in-on gloves are exceedingly popular this season. They are of kid, suede, and washable kid, and are found in the new mode shades, grey, and beige, with individualized treatments.

Hands-stitched suede and kid gloves are attractive for sport wear. They are wonderfully made and are doubly durable because of the great care taken in their making.

Suntan is the foremost of the many new shades in soft short silk chiffon hose with smart pieced tops. Also the skin shades: bare skin, beach skin, sun skin, and rose skin, are exceedingly popular and will be in great demand.

It is also fairly common to find the latest fashion among the younger set. It is very fine chiffon, sheer and light, and with no seam to show the wearer away. Hosiery will match gloves, scarfs, handbags and shoes. This season, one of the most popular hosiery shades is the "Lady Francine" which goes with the new Sun-Kissed blue shoes.

The bags this spring are being featured as a distinct important element of the correct ensemble. Smartly designed, small bags with pretty bows and such are extremely fashionable. They are all kinds of leathers and fabrics, including wicker, rattan, and other reptilian materials are among the most popular.

A colorful new note in sport wear is the fabric bag. It is very blends with the spring costume and provides just the right touch of the "Feminine" touch. One of the most popular is the natural linen bag, embroidered in white. Attached to the top is a long cord that the purse may be worn on the finger. Another model is the wool bag embroidered in colorful yarns.

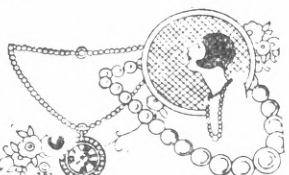

Mesh bags for evening in the lightest pastel shades and in the tall shades will please many.

For a dash of color to your spring costume, a flowing silk scarf will serve admirably. Most of the new sport coats have a long scarf attached, but the well-dressed woman will have a variety of such scarfs to match each ensemble.

All manner of designs are charmingly used in the new spring scarfs and all tastes can readily be satisfied. Borders, flower-motifs, Oriental designs, checks and prints, all in superb colors are sponsored for street, formal and sport wear.

The handkerchief scarf will again be essential for sport wear.

Costume jewelry of a different type is essential this season. The greatest demand will be made on the so-called costume jewelry. Of great necessity is the "modern" look, and so we find the brightly colored, glossy, colorful pieces in large arrays.

Most important of the antique jewelry are the Indian silver ornaments. They are authentic adaptations of old Indian pieces in hand wrought copies of the old Indian craftsmanship.

The car equestrian are important, almost as much so as the antique jewelry. They are mostly in the form of necklaces, some plain and some with pendants.

Chokers will predominate over chains this season. Bracelets will match beads and car rings will also be popular if matching other jewelry.

A new note in handkerchiefs this season is the motif handkerchief of cotton. It is rather large and is extremely able to a role of color, so as to match the blouse of the day, the evening dress, and to match the shoes, for evening, or to contrast strikingly. Linen handkerchiefs, as always, will be most popular and smart for daily use. They will be smartly hem-stitched and faintly trimmed with lace. Checks will be offered in a variety of colors and the future motif for sport frocks and afternoon gowns.

Billions Spent By England For Alcoholic Drinks

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The British public has spent at least $16,250,000 on drink during the last ten years, of which about $11,250,000 was provided by weekly wage earners. These facts were contained in the recent annual report of the United Kingdom Alliance, Britain's prohibition organization.

But while many persons are happily drinking less liquor, it must be remembered that at least $1,400,000 was actually spent last year," said the report.

Public drunkenness, of course, abounds, though the cases before the police courts have diminished by last year about 10,000 men and women were dealt with by the police in Britain, and these were only a fraction of the total cases of drunkards which occurred.

Referring to the closing hours of public houses, the report stated that the results of a detailed inquiry show that 95 percent of the population of Britain are satisfied with the 10 p. m. closing hour and that in country boroughs, with a total population of 13 millions, only four, with a total population of 34,000, have found special requirements justifying an extension to 10:30 p. m.

Blind Man Heads Street Parade

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 27.—A street parade headed by a blind man, Collins Smith, who carried a large American flag was the unique spectacle which attracted thousands here recently. The parade was held to stimulate public interest in the "Light House," a factory where only the blind are employed. The factory manufactures brooms, chair bottoms, tennis rackets, sewing machines, and various other articles. It was established by public spirited men and has resulted in doing away with the blind beggars familiar to every other large city.

Slender Prints For Stout Women

Which has been accomplished this year in the development of patterns for dresses for the larger woman. For instance, prints based on varized geometrical motifs printed in careless arrangements and colored so as to give the effect of a third dimension have been found to be flattering to the full figure and require no veiling with geometric to produce slender lines.

Brown, Yellow for New Bathing Suits

One of the most interesting bathing suits is yellow and brown. The shorts are in brown with three bands of yellow in the skirt. The upper section is made with a high scarf collar which tied in back the front slashed in five sections. One wide panel in back upheld the low-cut line which was under the arms.

Sleeveless Dress Of Broadcloth

PRINTED BROADCLOTH achieves a youthful feeling through the tailored neckline and high, belted waistline. The multicolored print is placed on a black background.

Gambling Pays City Salaries

SAN REMO, Feb. 27.—UP—The government cones for permitting the opening of a casino for gambling at San Remo has proved a financial success to the town.

The municipality receives an annual income of $10,000,000 from the company which runs the gambling tables, as well as a sum of $10,000,000 for public works. The payment of this sum being spread over the five years duration of the session.

The pre-ence of a casino at San Remo has attracted a large number of visitors, both Italian and foreign, and the town seems set for a wave of prosperity.

No one under the age of 21 may be admitted to the gambling rooms and the prohibition is also extended to Italian soldiers and sailors.

New Treatment Of Old Designs Seen

The fact that prints have found new solis on which to bloom has doubtless resulted in new treatment of old designs and of a new series of standards of what constitutes a good print. While crepes of all kinds remain with us in an infinite variety, there are printed linens and cottons galore most of which have found favor during the resort season, which presage their summer success.

SOFT TULE DRESS

This appearance of softness rather than crispness that seems such a part of the new tulle frock is due not only to the fact that many of the tulle used have no draping.

Battle Scene 200 Years Old Found

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Ark., Feb. 27.—UP—Mute evidence of a desperate battle between an Osage Indian and a black bear in which both were killed, was unearthed in a cave near here by a hunting party recently.

The bleached, broken bones together with a 20-pound rock told graphically the story of the conflict which is believed to have occurred at least 200 years ago.

With none to watch, the Indian and the bear fought and struggled to a finish fight, far back in the cave which is located in the Ozark hills.

The brave crushed the bear's skull with the heavy stone, but not before he himself had received mortal wounds. He had suffered eight broken ribs, a crushed collar bone and a broken leg.

Cotton Frocks Grow In Favor

There are more cotton dresses to be seen every day aside from the pique, the printed versions are seen in sheer cottons. A naive model worn by a young girl was of white printed in pale green flowers. The bodice was made with a deeply scalloped border piped in white, which terminated at the hip with a huge bow and ends of the material. The skirt was flared.

HAWAII VOLCANO STARTS NEW ERUPTION

HILO, T. H., Feb. 27 (U.P.) The first major disturbance of Kilauea volcano since 1924, which had covered the entire floor of Halemau-puu pit with hot lava tonight, was a fracturing hundreds of American tourists in the islands.

Although assured that the eruption would probably continue for at least two weeks without causing damage unless there is an outbreak from some other part of the mountain, sight-seers were hurrying here on large liners, making special trips.

When the bottom of Halemau-puu pit had been hidden completely by lava, a fountain of fire was shooting 500 feet in the air. Points of the flames were still 700 feet below the rim of the huge hole.

The pit itself is only a comparatively small indentation in the large crater of Kilauea, which is many miles across.

Prediction that the eruption might last two weeks was made by Dr. Y. A. Jagger, government observer who was among the first to reach the crater after the eruption started. Jagger made it clear that a definite time limit could not be set.

The observer said the crater would hold a tremendous overflow but added that an uprising of such intensity might result in a major on-break somewhere else on Kilauea.

Light Furs For New Spring Coat

The fur jacket makes a plea for spring recreation which does not seem altogether unreasonable. The party selected for consideration in color and weight, only the lighter furs, in every case of the form being considered, developed usually along simple sport lines such as fur as beige deer skin, shaved lamb and yak are appearing enough to offset any possible discomfort one might experience in continuing to wear fur late in the season.

Gingham Favored In New Styles

Gingham has again stepped into the fashion spotlight. Its comeback has not been unheralded, first intimations having been noted at various smart California resorts two or three years ago. At that time gingham appeared not only in dresses but also in ensembles, some of the smartest models choosing an alliance with woollens or silks.

Coat Styles Present Problem

Worth, of Paris, is one of those to declare himself in favor of a related silhouette in coats and dresses. This, he says, is the great problem of designers for this spring—to discover an adjustment of coat styles to those made popular in dresses. "Attention dresses have definitely adopted soft and irregular lines," says M. Worth, "and we must develop the coat of wrap which will give full value to these lines."

Needle Work To Feature Sport Wear For Women

Embroidery is one of the elements of spring sportswear which must be taken into account. One manufacturer goes so far as to state that he is emphasizing embroidery to take the place of prints.

RICHMOND WILL OFFER AIR BASE

Richmond will offer the government a site for the proposed $5,000,000 army air base, according to decision yesterday when the matter was referred to the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce on recommendation of Fred D. Parr, chairman of the publicity committee.

The industrial committee, headed by George N. Roker, will make an investigation of possible locations with the object of making an offer of one to the government, in line with similar offers that have been made by Alameda, Redwood City and Berkeley. "We believe Richmond has some excellent sites for this purpose," said Parr. "One is between Brooks Island and Sausalito, another on the San Pablo canal. The government will invest $55,000,000 in this enterprise. Think what it would mean if we had an opportunity to locate ten industries each to invest $500,000. We would do everything in our power to bring those industries to the limit to get our proposals before the government in the matter of this air base."

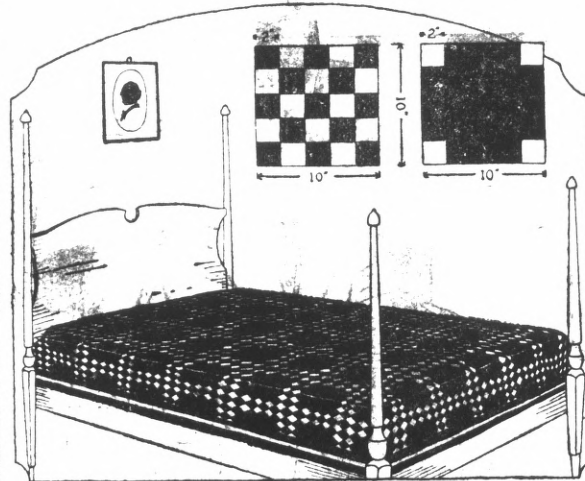

P. M. Sanford, president of the Chamber, said Richmond had not so far made an offer, though he had attended meetings of the chamber leaders held in San Francisco to discuss the matter of getting the base somewhere on the bay. "We do know that Richmond has some land that would be immediately available for the government to start building upon," said Sanford. "And I believe this should be an inducement for the government. Most of the lands so far offered in other cities are entirely submerged and will require huge sums of money to put in shape for building."

Fred Parr, Frank Chandler, of the Certaintec company and City Attorney Thomas M. Carlson will go to Portland to represent the city in the case before the Interstate Commerce Commission where the question of the freight rate to Portland will be discussed.

Heavy Linens For New Dresses

Linens, both in the heavy and handkerchief textures, has many sponsors. One of the most attractive frocks is a pale pink in jumper type, the pointed neckline emphasized by a banding of pale blue and with vertically-colored wool embroidery outlining it and the stimulated pockets. A gilet of cream lace, and two scarf ends of blue brought under a large embroidered motif are other details.

MRS. HOOVER'S COLONIAL QUILT

Whatever the new and gracious first lady of the land puts her stamp of approval on will, it is safe to say, carry a good deal of weight with the rest of American woman-kind for the next four years. And here, to start with, is an old, old colonial quilt pattern which Mrs. Hoover finds particularly charming. In fact, when she was shown the original, a blue and white patchwork masterpiece almost a hundred years old, Mrs. Hoover was so delighted with it that she forthwith had it duplicated by an old lady in the South, and presented to her son as a wedding gift three years ago. The actual handwork on this quilt is extremely simple. Its effectiveness lies in the care with which the stitches are set, so as to get nice, square corners. It is quite in keeping with the thrifty spirit of our forefathers or in this case should one say, foremothers?—that this quilt should be made at little or no expense from used flour bags. Nine or ten bags will be needed for making a full sized quilt. If you do not have these on hand from flour bought for home baking, your baker will doubtless let you have some for a few cents apiece. The first step is to rip the bags and remove the stamping by soaking it in kerosene or covering it with lard overnight and then washing the goods in warm water. Then dye six of the pieces of material a deep shade of blue, what is commonly known as a yale blue. The basis of the quilt is alternating blocks, shown in the upper right hand corner of the illustration. The first block is a checkerboard square composed of alternating two-inch squares of the blue and white materials. The second block is of solid blue with a two-inch square of the white in each corner. For a full-sized spread, forty-two of the checkerboard blocks will be needed and thirty of the blue ones. When all the blocks are completed, sew them together in strips diagonally, filling in at the ends to make a straight edge, taking care to follow out the pattern scheme. Finish the quilt with three two-inch strips of blue, white and blue, with a nine-square checkerboard block at each corner.

PRINTED CREPE FOR EVENING WEAR

Brief headlines in the weeks fashion news include the following:

The extraordinary place which prints hold in the resort, spring and summer collections.

The sponsoring of printed crepe evening gowns by fashionable women.

The same circle's endorsement of plain flat crepe for evening in such colors as turquoise and pale green.

The prevalence of off-whites, red, and chartreuse in the latest evening modes.

The use of prints in matched accessories.

The new "sectional" treatments of linings for coats of spring ensembles, the upper section matching the color of the blouse.

The appearance of stiff satin and panne velvet as rivals of sheer velvet for resort evening wraps.

The sponsoring of soft shades in blouses for street costumes and of bright shades in blouses for sportswear.

The supplanting of soft pastels for children by bright colors.

Not only are prints widely used in the development of frocks, ensembles and coats, but they are beginning to be used more extensively in accessories than they have been heretofore.

Frequently they are employed as trimming on dresses of plain flat crepe; they supply a note of color in scarfs, belts, little packets, shoes, bags, and hats, which are worn with plain sleeveless dresses. Gay prints, often on white.

Aviation Styles

MRS. L. M. THADEN, who holds the women's altitude record of 20,270 feet above the Oakland airport, shows what the woman flier of today is wearing while in the air.

MANNISH COSTUME WORN BY WOMEN FLIERS OF EASTBAY

In days of old Milady as a rule manipulate the controls. Comfort, Warmth. Just as the men have adopted flying garb of soft and comfortable materials, the women who are taking up the new sport find it essential to create their costumes of materials of light weight not forgetting the need of great warmth.

Milady has always had the name of being appropriate in her dress, so now, with the advent of the flying costume, an admirable opportunity has been presented her to further her creed of always being attractive.

Mrs. Louise McNettrize Thaden of Oakland, who holds the women's altitude record of 20,270 feet above the Oakland airport, is an expert pilot and also a cockpilot of a modern plane.

ness of women's dress. Soft Helmet. She considers smartness and comfort exceptionally facile in the modern flying costume for women. Instead of the old stiff style of helmet, she wears an exceedingly soft helmet with a very thin lining, and for higher altitudes, a soft helmet with a thicker and warmer lining.

A mannish skirt of soft twill with a roll collar, either in light shades or in black color, is very attractive, especially with a four-in-hand tie. Over this is worn a short leather coat, very mannish in style. It is bound around the bottom with a band of knitted material which makes it fit closely and yet does not bind. This style of coat, being light around the bottom, has a distinct advantage over the old loose coat which so easily became loosened in the wind.

Large Pockets. More of the good points of the coat are the large pockets, semi-loose sleeves with knitted wristbands, and a stand-up collar that may be rolled down or buttoned up around the neck for warmth.

Mr. Thaden favors the sea-son's popular mode of custom made riding breeches and also leather riding boots to complete the flying costume.

The breeches are the flare type, being buttoned tightly up to the knee. The boots are the black or brown stov-pipe riding boots.

Taken all in all, it will be seen that fashion decrees that Milady of the air should be as faultless as her sisters of the land. Women have always taken advantage of every occasion to show their prowess in the attractiveness of their wearing apparel, and so it is that now in the era of the aviatrix, they are not to be outdone.

Scots Make Edict On Skirt Length

GLASGOW, Feb. 28. (U.P.)—Six Scots lassies working as waitresses in Glasgow's civic tea-room are practically in tears over the unlucky numeral "13." For the Glasgow corporation has decreed that the skirts of their waitresses in their tea-room must end thirteen inches above the ground; no more, no less.

Now thirteen inches is from three to seven inches closer to the ground than the intriguing creations the waitresses have been wearing. Shapely, twinkling lines that gladdened the eyes of the diner and moved even the thurty Scot to a respectable tip, henceforth must hide their attractiveness beneath trailing folds of cloth.

In consequence all are threatening to quit. "Thirteen inches!" exclaimed one of the waitresses, "thirty! That's what I call it!" Another: "What this joint wants is midgets!"

The two most interesting features of spring styles are the thick in blouse, which when tucked in at the waist gives somewhat the aspect of the man's suit, and the distinctly rippled or flared skirt which is a decidedly feminine turn.

ENSEMBLE FOR FORMAL WEAR FAVORED

The ensemble composed of dress and three-quarter coat recommends itself as a costume of greater formality than the suit, this quality varying with the fabrics and colors in which it is designed. The silk dress with the woolen coat, or the printed dress and plain coat, is perhaps less formal than when the entire costume is developed in the same fabric. However, it is a version which lends itself to the more feminine aspect of clothes, since the dress may be ruffled, flounced, or ruffled, and the coat take on softer lines than the suit jacket. The long coat and dress designed for each other have perhaps the most formal aspect of all, unless they are accented by the sports character in coats as well as dresses. There is dignity in length. In the majority of ensembles of this character, the dress is more elaborately styled than the coat, but the coat may reflect discreetly the detail or color scheme of the dress. The long coat embodies a conservative character, is a very practical type costume, while if elaborated it becomes distinctly formal. In this type and the mentioned above, the printed silk will appear frequently for the dress giving a springlike quality.

In reviewing the variety of the ensemble types for spring, the cape must be considered, since it appears occasionally in dress collections as an accompaniment to summer frocks and is believed by some worthy authorities to be very suitable to the present silhouette.

The cape appears in place of sleeves in some coats and jackets also indicating that it is in the style thought of the season and may be counted upon to make another ensemble variation in the large wardrobe.

The woman who is susceptible to the argument that she must be well dressed for every occasion, and at the same time be recognized as sponsoring the new in fashion, is easily persuaded that she requires a jacket suit for the most youthful and becoming costume for her daily errands about town. Then her longer pocket ensemble should have the better quality that recommends it for luncheon or marine wear, while the long coat evening must be had in two of its best cuts, a practical woolen for cooler or rainy days, and the silk costume for the most formal occasions.

Male Manikins Used In South

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 27.—Two male manikins, who parade daily through the principal streets, keep Buenos Aires up to the minute on what the well-to-do of men will wear.

The pair have all the recent trends and novelties of men about town, and are followed at times by such crowds that they nearly stop traffic. They do not descend to pass out advertising, but in conversation with each other or passerby leave no doubt as to where the new outfits they wear every day can be duplicated.

Lingerie, Pajamas Of Gingham Latest

Further indicating the broad appeal of gingham is its enthusiastic acceptance in lingerie and pajamas for lounging as well as sleeping wear. In fact, the cotton was first received in pajamas which have already enjoyed a successful response among younger girls.

Jewelry Gains Fashion Lead

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(U.P.)—Jewelry is staging a comeback as a fashion for women.

The young of the "balletic" woman saw a slump in jewels as articles of time, but now jewelry—and but of it is the order of the day.

The latest thing is the handkerchief which is worn in a central position on the head with the ends falling over the ears. It is all that it is worth as originally intended, on the forehead—it keeps the hair.

Tapestry Handbags Featured By Paris

PARIS, Feb. 28.—Paris novelty stores are featuring tapestries. This handbag is a return to the mode of Louis XVI's time when the riding gaiters and hats were worked into the pattern of the material.

Something For The Evening

SHIRRED BANDING accents the peplum of a scarlet taffeta frock with bodice shirred front and back. The full skirt dips its hemline at the sides and back.

WHITE WILL BE POPULAR SHADE

White will be a popular shade this season. Almost any shade may be combined with white with charming touches of color appearing at unexpected places such as the bag, silk belt, the scarf, the hat and the cardigan. There is not much color used with white, a mere touch is sufficient to give a charming effect.

Four combinations of colors are widely used: white and bright blue; white, red and black; white, brown and orange; white, blue and chartreuse.

Single colors worn with white are yellow, bright blue, black, orange, chartreuse, green in light shades and violet.

KNITTED LINEN

A striking innovation in linen is knitted linen, which has the same delicate ivory quality.

Woman's Beads Causes Static

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—(U.P.)—The mysterious reverberation in the KGO radio studio here which caused an end of trouble to the station staff has at last been found.

After an expert piano tuner tried for hours to remedy the troubles, all of the station's pianists were summoned to appear and Eva Garcia was found guilty.

Mrs. Garcia was "ordered" to leave her "rings at home when she played at the studio. Sensitive microphones picked up a note in pitch with the beads and sent the vibrations over the air.

Color Scheme Of Blouses Varied

The blouse is stepping into an important place. The jacket costume has given it a new importance and the fancy for contrast effects has given it further impetus. Models are so generally designed with the ensemble idea in mind that color schemes take the place of the lining, or giving it an in-house into their reckoning, match-dividual role of contrast.

STRAW, FELT IS SPRING HAT MATERIAL

Straws and felt hats are the latest modes for the well dressed woman this spring. Brims of uneven diameter predominate.

In the new styles the right side of the hat is wider while the left check is exposed.

Combinations of felt and straw will mark the first spring hats. A majority of them will be in dark shades, such as blue, black and reds. Light beige and cream shades may be expected for southern wear and later in the spring. Two tones are often combined in the use of straw and felts.

Advanced summer hats stressing trimming underneath wide brims, usually in the form of formal stitching or flat rows of ribbon.

In the case of the skirt, the jacket or the blouse, or giving it an in-house into their reckoning, match-dividual role of contrast.

Men Protest Ankle Covers By Paris Women

PARIS, Feb. 28.—(U.P.)—The ob-servant boulevardiers of the French capital are very much disturbed. It seems that the erst-while neat ankles of the Mille-lies and of many fine and elegant ladies have suddenly been buried in the depths of short thick socks, worn over their stockings.

Cold weather and wintry winds have deprived the cafe loungers of one of their innocent pastimes and the reaction has set in among the newspapers. Some enterpris-ing salesmen from Holland and Norway introduced this "socklets" to Paris. They were worn origi-nally on the tennis court and pa-ern wear and later in the spring.

RUSSIAN SABLE SHORTAGE SEEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(U.P.)—Warn-ing: Lay in a good supply of Rus-sian sable at the nearest fur shop. A shortage of this product may be expected with consequent high prices, in view of orders just is-sued by the Soviet government prohibiting the hunting of sable for three years.

The prohibition is one of a series of measures being undertaken in the hope of saving the sable breed from extinction. In districts where the population is largely dependent on sable hunting, the government will compensate those deprived of their livelihood by the prohibition.

The only exceptions to the order are Kamchatka and Uffurisk in Siberia, where there is still enough of the sables to make hunting less menacing to the continuance of the animal.

TEST CASE FOR ALSTROM COURT FILED

DECISION TO BE GIVEN
SOON

The legal status of Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom will be tested directly and determined once and for all through the medium of a writ of habeas corpus filed to the state supreme court.

The writ was filed early yesterday on behalf of Manuel Roman of Richmond, who was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom on a charge of disturbing the peace several weeks ago.

The writ will determine whether or not Judge Alstrom has authority to give sentences in view of the recent decision of the appellate court.

Immediate Decision

It is expected that the supreme court will accept the petition immediately and will render a decision at once.

Alstrom is represented by attorneys Thomas M. Carlson and T. H. DeLap, both of Richmond. While a Justice of the Peace in San Joaquin county he filed a writ of mandate ordering the auditor of that county to show cause why his salary warrants should not be issued, this method will take.

LIFE OF GIRL
IN AIR CRASH

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27.—UP.—Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife, Anne Morrow, were saved from being crushed to death after a crash landing in the Mexican desert, when their plane crashed and burst into flames at a distance of 100 miles from the nearest town.

Lindbergh's shoulder was hurt in the crash, but he was able to get out of the plane and help his wife. The plane was a single-engine biplane, and the crash was described as "the narrowest escape."

The crash was Lindbergh's first serious mishap since his flight from New York to Paris and only his narrow escape from the crash. Lindbergh was flying over the desert when the plane crashed.

With Lindbergh driving, they went directly to the residence of Mr. Morrow's father, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, at the Embassy.

Police Halt
Gang Gun Battle

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 27.—UP.—A pitched gun battle of thirty minutes between two automobile loads of gangsters was interrupted by the arrival of a police riot squad car today which opened fire on both vehicles, capturing one containing two severely wounded gangsters.

Seven other men were arrested as a result of the clash which police said climaxed a hijacking feud.

NEW STYLES

Spring fashions for women are now being revealed at the Richmond window displays and show cases of Richmond merchants.

One new look to take a stroll along the main streets and view the windows is to come to the conclusion that good merchants are entering both men and women's clothing that is worth while in spring fashions.

Merchants have gone to special pains to get in presenting an assortment of goods that will tempt the eye and lead back from the modest and practical standard to the new and the modern. A lot of the merchandise offered is new and more than complete with the season's latest in fashion.

Attractive displays, which were the window of the leading merchants, and the advertising elements of the RECORD-HERALD, this morning are only a small indication of the new fashions in new spring fashions which stock the shelves of Richmond's dealers.

Nothing has been overlooked for the local purchaser. Everything can be purchased right here, at home, from complete suits to the smallest accessories, so necessary in this day and age to present that well-dressed appearance.

Special Effort
Special effort is being put forth during the next three days, to present the Record-Herald, with what the local merchant has to offer in spring fashions. It will be well worth your while to stop around today, tomorrow and Saturday, just to see what is in the world of fashion even if you think that there is nothing that you will need to complete your wardrobe this spring.

Prices are exceptionally reasonable this year and the merchant has endeavored to give a little extra to the customer who will wear the new fashions.

ACCUMULATED KNOWLEDGE

In the realm of science it is no longer possible to proclaim a law based on scant observation and the genius interpretation of a man like Newton. What modern science requires is a combination of accumulated knowledge and deep thinking on the fact brought forth.

Once in a generation a man like Einstein arrives on this sphere who can relate in mathematical language a fundamental fact. With purely theoretical beginnings, he can by the power of a peculiar intellect arrive at formulae which later observation can prove, as was done in his theories of relativity. All but the most crabbed now agree that his spatio-temporal concept has met the test of observational science, and been confirmed by enough tests to make it safe to accept.

But such a course is not for many scientists. In America we have two outstanding men in Michelson and Millikan. The former painstakingly paved the way for some of Einstein's studies by certain negative results which he achieved in his classic measures of the velocity of light. Millikan's latest outstanding contribution has been the discovery and measurement of the cosmic ray.

Men like Jeans and Eddington had taken the atomic results of men like Bohr and had ascertained some more of the facts about the universe. It would have been only a step from their discoveries to have reasoned to the cosmic ray. But Millikan made that step not necessarily in reasoning but in exploration. He had learned that some sort of hard penetrating ray was arriving at the earth from all directions and at all times. He had evolved and successfully used a means of detecting and to some extent measuring the rays. So, he actually found what earlier thinkers might have calculated to exist.

All over the world one class of scientists is tabulating all kinds of data so that the base of the pyramid of knowledge may be as broad and safe as possible. Observatories are photographing fields of stars and storing the plates so that 100 years from now other astronomers may make new pictures and by comparison detect the minute quantities of the movements of the so-called "fixed" stars.

Other observers are storing knowledge about earthquakes and volcanic eruptions, and have already discovered that the frequency of quakes has a tendency to move over the surface of the earth in some sort of regularity. All of these studies in a measure prepare mankind to conquer nature, if indeed it is to be man's cosmic province to conquer nature. At least this knowledge will mitigate the natural conditions under which lesser people must live.

COPPER CONSUMPTION

American and foreign consumption of copper in 1918 was the greatest in history. Shipments from American refineries totalled 3,315,362,000 pounds, an increase of 382,000,000 pounds over the previous year. It is believed that there will be another increase this year, as more uses for the red metal are constantly being found.

Tune your radio to the inaugural ceremonies in Washington, D. C., Monday morning at 7 o'clock. The broadcast will be heard over several local stations and will continue approximately five hours.

Federal prohibition is now ten years old and we don't know of any other youngster of that age who has succeeded in getting himself more talked about.

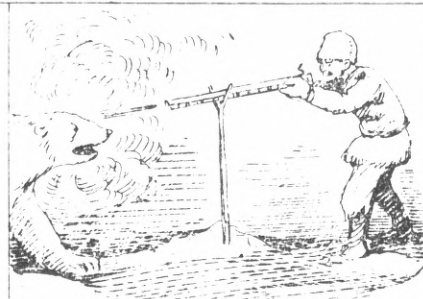

It is said that college girls spend on the average $300 a year for their clothes. And it's our opinion that they don't get very much for their money.

Cheer up. It won't be long now until the good old American joy cry, "Play ball!" will sound in every park and sand lot.

Hope Hampton,
Famous Star of the Opera,
Stage and Screen.

"Luckies have helped me win the laurel crown of my musical career—singing in opera. Stage presence demands a slim, youthful figure. Rich foods cannot tempt me. I light a Lucky and stay slender. The toasted flavor of a Lucky soothes the craving for goodies. Then, too, a Lucky never irritates my throat. Even, after smoking many, my voice is still clear."

HOPE HAMPTON

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

"It's toasted"

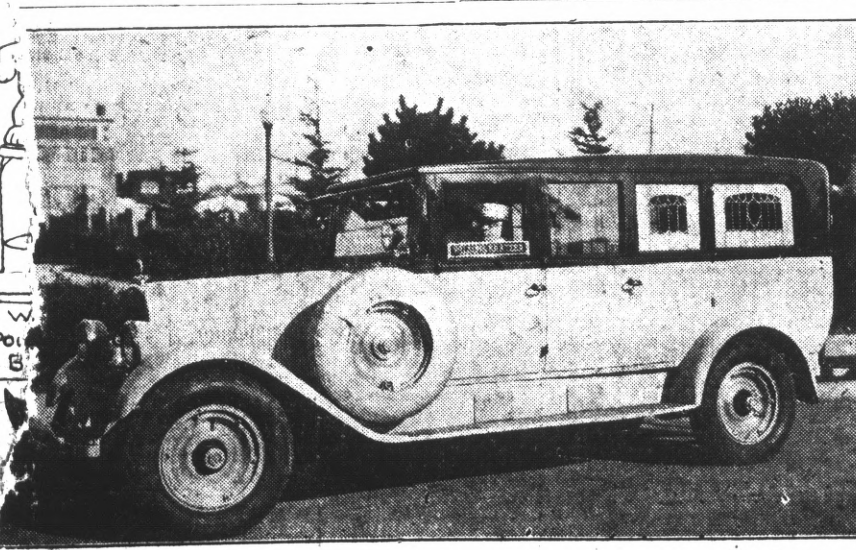

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.
